

SagisEPR: CONNECTING THE DOTS ON GLOBAL EPR

Global EPR: A growing challenge

Rapidly evolving and intricate EPR and circular economy legislation poses a formidable challenge for global producers and brand owners. They must:

- Monitor EPR laws in over 200+ jurisdictions, identify applicable legal obligations in each region, and
- Understand compliance options and potential risks of non-compliance in every jurisdiction

EPR legislation

200+ jurisdictions

Tracking tool

Streamlined EPR knowledge solution

To conserve time and resources, compliance teams of global producers and brand owners leverage the SagisEPR knowledge platform as:

- A tracking tool for EPR policy trends, plus legislative, regulatory, and market developments
- A reference tool to aid compliance strategy development and document internal implementation processes, and
- A training tool that swiftly onboards new staff by providing a consistent analytical framework and terminology across jurisdictions

Platform features

SagisEPR knowledge content includes:

- Legal texts analysed comprehensively from the drafting stage, covering over 200 jurisdictions and 8,000+ legal texts chronologically or in relation to each other, focusing on producer requirements and obligations
- Jurisdiction reports in a standardised format, detailing legislative developments, detailed requirements, 'compliance markets', and environmental and economic outcomes for each policy, country, and state (where applicable)
- News items communicating significant legislative or market developments, providing historical context and building reader expertise
- Brief memos capturing discussions on prospective legislative introductions, market developments, and stakeholder intentions, serving as early warning triggers for further research
- A directory of organisations, particularly producer responsibility organisations (PROs), with key information such as ownership and authorisations

Additionally, Special Reports offer multi-country comparisons on specific topics, while Global Overview Maps provide a high-level view of current EPR models.

Content is organised on different pages, filterable by jurisdiction, chronology, or other criteria, and interlinked with overlay links for seamless navigation.
